COUNTY SCHOOL BOARD WINDS UP BUSINESS FOR YEAR

Mr. D. Ed. Bullock is Re-Elected County Attendance Officer—Consolidated District Taxes are Levied At Meeting Monday.

At the regular monthly meeting of the Mason County Board of Education held at the office of County Superintendent George H. Turnipseed Monday morning, all of the pressing business for the opening of the school for another year was completed and arrangements were made for the opening of all the schools.

Probably the most important business transacted was the fixing of the school tax levies for the various consolidated districts throughout the county.

Drivers of wagons and automobiles for these consolidated schools were elected and all the colored teachers were chosen. Several vacancies in the white teachers' list were filled.

Mr. D. Ed. Bullock, who has been County Attendance Officer for the past several months and who gave complete satisfaction in this most important office, was unanimously re-elected.

GASKINS GONE TO OHIO.

Investigations by local officers have disclosed that Tom Gaskins, said to be the leading light in the moonshining scheme broken up last week by officers, has gone to Ohio in his automobile—Columbus, Ohio, is thought to be his destination, and officers of the Ohio capitol have been asked to keep a sharp lookout for the alleged moonshiner.

MINISTER'S AUTOMOBILE STOLEN FROM GARAGE

Ford Machine Stolen at Washington Saturday Evening—Police Have No Clue to Missing Machine.

A Ford automobile belonging to Rev. A. H. Chapin, pastor of the Washington Presbyterian church, was stolen from the pastor's barn at Washington sometime Saturday night. Officers have no clew to the whereabouts of the machine or the thief or thieves who took the car, but it is supposed that professionals passing through the town of Washington took the car away.

The car bore Wisconsin license tags No. 77,144 and the engine number was 3035176. The upper half of the windshield was cracked. There were three fairly good Goodyear tires and one old Firestone tire on the machine, and a part of the top has been recently repaired.

Officials are making a careful search of this section and anyone seeing a car answering this description should immediately notify Sheriff Gablebreath or Chief of Police Harry A. Orr.

BIG CROWDS ON SUNDAY AT RUGGLES CAMP MEETING

Large Crowd Flock at Ruggles for The First Sunday—Directors Pleased at Outlook.

(By J. H. RICHARDSON.)

Ruggles Campgrounds, July 30.—An unusual number of week-end guests of the campmeeting are in the camp this evening. So many could not come until Saturday, and many others had laid their plans to spend just one week. With the arrivals today everything is filled up. The weather continued ideal and all indications point to a fine first-Sunday.

The early prayer service was conducted by Rev. N. G. Griswold, of Tollesboro. The morning sermon was given by Rev. A. W. Insko of Nicholasville. Rev. J. M. Literal conducted the young peoples' meeting and Dr. Birney preached the evening sermon. Dr. Birney is preaching the strongest series of revival sermons ever heard at this campmeeting. And that is saving a great deal for many of the leading evangelistic preachers of the Methodist church have been heard here. No matter what the length of the sermons they do not tire the people. The order is good as well as the attendance. Perhaps the feature of his sermons that makes them so interesting and gripping is the vast fund of war experiences he works into his sermons. We are all looking forward with pleasant anticipation to the Sunday evening sermon on the subject "Over the Top—In No Man's Land."

Dr. John Lowe Forst arrived this afternoon, being delayed somewhat because of his attendance at other camps. He will now be on the job every day until next Friday—and longer if he can be persuaded to remain.

Mr. Tom Tolle, of Dayton, Ohio, is here for a few days camping with the family of his son, J. W. Tolle.

Miss Jennie Blythe and brother Harry, and Mr. Herman Clark came out today to assist with the music over Sunday.

Mr. J. C. Simons is here for the week end.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Moore and Miss Hattie Solsor, of Maysville, arrived today and are occupying the Walker cottage for the remainder of the meeting.

Mrs. G. W. Boswell, of Whetstone, is here for the campmeeting being a guest of Dr. O'Bannon and family.

Messrs. Leo Hoanau and J. A. Hill came out again today to stay over Sunday with their families.

Misses Ada Duzan and Eusealine Traxel and Mr. Andrew Moody came out today for a few days enjoyment of camp life.

Through an error on the part of some one—maybe of the writer—it came out in some of the papers that there would be no gate fees the first Sunday. It was the first Saturday that no gate fee was charged. It has always been the custom to charge gate fees on Saturday and Sundays; this year the directors have tried the experiment of no gate fees on the first Saturday. We trust this explanation will be satisfactory to any who may have come with the thought that nothing would be charged.

Mr. Chas. Rosser is a Saturday's arrival and is guest of his grandmother Mrs. Wm. Rosser, in the Lane Inn.

Mr. J. H. Kirkland is here spending a few days with his daughters.

Messrs. James Hutchinson and Wm. H. Jones are spending the week end with their families.

Ruggles Campgrounds, July 31.—The first Sunday of our campmeeting is now over. We have had a delightful day. The attendance has been a bit larger than the same day a year ago. The crowd has been the most orderly according to Clef Hendrikson, that has even attended Ruggles Campmeeting. There has been fine audiences at all services. And we have had some of the best preaching one would care to hear. Dr. John Lowe Forst gave the morning and afternoon sermons. This is his first visit at Ruggles and as he is to be with us several days for big work we were naturally anxious to see the effect of his first sermons. The campers who are interested in the spiritual work of the meeting feel that in him we have one who will do a great work.

Dr. Birney's sermon this evening was a message of great and searching power. The subject "Over the Top—In No Man's Land" had a strong appeal to the church. The analogy made by the preacher between the work of the armies of the nations and the armies of the church was especially appealing. Such a sermon makes as glad that we are to have another week of such preaching. Then on the last Sunday—the big day of the campmeeting—Dr. Birney is to give two of his best sermons at the morning and afternoon hours.

OUR POLICY:

To support such measures as are unquestionably for the good of Mason County as an entire community, rather than such propositions as are in favor of the individual interest, or of one section as against another. And likewise to earnestly and consistently oppose all things that are not for the good of the county as a whole.

HOW ABOUT A TREE PLANTING CLUB?

Why not a tree planting club for this town? What better community effort than planting trees? Is there not a bare spot or an unsightly one that can be cleaned up and planted to trees? Maybe we can have a tree for every youngster in town? Suppose a tree be planted—and named—in a community park for every boy and girl in this place? What would be the result 25 years from now? As the American Forestry Association points out, the tree is a lifetime proposition.

In big cities thousands of dollars are being spent to get more breathing places and more trees for the city's thousands, but we can turn a town woodlot to good account as well as have a community park. In European countries they have town woodlots, working quietly year in and year out, sell the surplus timber for lumber, grate wood, stove wood, and other things. We hear a great deal about "buying your coal now." There is not a community in the country that would not welcome the intelligent cutting of a town woodlot almost any winter. The woodlot with the farmer is almost a thing of the past. The American Forestry Association is booming this proposition everywhere.

Take a look at Pennsylvania. At first it may seem incredible that more than 20 million white pine trees have been planted in eighteen years on the State Forest of Pennsylvania; that is, an average of more than one million per year. In other states, particularly New York, Massachusetts and Connecticut, many million young white pine trees have been planted on barren waste land.

Many of the trees comprising the older plantations have reached a size of 20 to 30 feet in height. The growth during the first few years is rather slow, but each successive year it becomes greater, until the annual height growth reaches two to three feet, and in exceptional cases it may be as high as four feet in a single season.

Tree planting time nears again, and the American Forestry Association will send you free tree planting suggestions and a program whereby the tree planting can be started as a great community movement. The following table will give the height growth of an ordinary plantation during the first ten years after its establishment:

Year	Age of Trees (years)	Year's Growth (inches)	Total Height (inches)
1910	4	6.3	11.3
1911	5	7.7	19.0
1912	6	9.1	28.1
1913	7	10.4	38.5
1914	8	15.4	53.9
1915	9	22.1	76.0
1916	10	22.1	103.3
1917	11	30.2	133.5
1918	12	33.1	166.6

Many of these planted baby trees were set out by school boys and girls. By this table you see the trees will grow. The time is going on just the same, so why not a town woodlot or a community park?

HENRY FORD AND DULL TIMES.

Mr. Henry Ford, of Detroit, inventor and manufacturer of a well-known horseless carriage, it is said, has no education and very little sense. His testimony in his libel suit and his mad adventure in the "peace ship" would seem to justify the estimate. However, last year Mr. Ford, the times being "out of joint" and business dull, salved down a profit of $38,000,000. He did this, too, after being shut down for a period and after reducing the price of his product to a sensational degree.

Now Mr. Ford has made a proposition to the United States government which Herbert Hoover, of the Department of Commerce, and John W. Weeks, of the War Department, are prepared to endorse and pass on to Congress. This proposition deals with the Muscle Shoals Nitrate Plant, which lies idle and useless after costing the government $80,000,000. Mr. Ford offers to take the plant over and operate it on the following terms: The government to complete the project at a cost of $28,000,000, after which Mr. Ford will pay $5,000,000 cash for the entire plant, including lands, dams and equipment; and in addition pay interest at the rate of 6 per cent, per annum on the $28,000,000, and amortize not only this sum but the entire cost of the dams over a period of 100 years. He also guarantees the conversion and steady operation of the nitrate plant for the production of commercial fertilizer compounds with the proviso that the government shall have the use of the plant in an emergency for the manufacture of explosives, keeping the plant up to date for both peace and war purposes. The contract also limits the profits of the fertilizer plant to 8 per cent, an independent board representing the American Farm Bureau and the National Grange and the Farmers' Union certifying to this maximum.

In order to meet the payments Mr. Ford will use the excess power generated by the dams in the Tennessee, which will become navigable to Chattanooga, in the development of his own manufacturing interests.

This is a most remarkable undertaking, and would seem to suggest, at least, that Mr. Henry Ford has more brains than some people have given credit for. It indicates, if he has originated the plan, most remarkable sagacity and the widest vision. One hundred years is a long period of time over which to project ideas and for which to make business dispositions. There is something in this great scheme which appeals to the imagination, and Congress has at least its share of imagination.

Henry Ford demonstrates that he has the quality which all our greatest business leaders have had—absolute confidence in the future of America.

TWO NEW SENSES
DISCOVERED SAYS
OSTEOPATH SPEAKER.
Chicago Osteopath Announces the Discovery of Two Additional Senses Making Seven
Instead of Five.

Cleveland, Ohio. — The traditional "five senses" are relegated to ancient history. Man really has seven senses, according to Dr. Glenn S. Moore, of Chicago, who told of the discovery of two new senses, in a technical paper at the annual osteopathic convention in this city. Dr. Moore said:

"For centuries man has been credited with only five senses. Only recently has a sixth sense come to be recognized as that of 'muscle and joint sense' by means of which the individual is able to perform co-ordinate acts automatically and unconsciously. Recent studies of the internal ear have revealed the fact that the semi-circular canals constitute a seventh sense, which has been termed the 'kinetic sense.'

"Really there are seven special senses: sight, hearing, taste, smell, touch, muscle sense, kinetic sense. Perfect equilibrium is maintained by these special senses working in unison. A war time utilization of varieties of tests was adopted by the board of examiners for the air-service departments in order to test the equilibrative powers of prospective aviators and their adaptability for flying.

"The tests consist in stimulating the semi-circular canals. This is accomplished by means of turning a person in a chair especially prepared for the purpose of by touching the ear with water, either hot or cold. Such stimulation produces definite phenomena such as the rhythmic jerking of the head and a feeling of turning and dizziness known as vertigo.

"Because of this vertigo a patient will fall in a definite direction and will be unable with his eyes closed to find an object which he has previously touched with his fingers or foot, but 'past-points' to the right, left, above or below the object, depending upon the direction of the vertigo. The phenomena of falling and 'past-pointing' are always present in normal individuals and follow certain definite laws. For example, turning to the right to stimulate both horizontal canals gives a jerking of the eye to the left, also a sensation of dizziness or vertigo, causing the patient to feel that he is turning to the left with 'past-pointing' to the right.

"If the head is in the upright position, because it stimulates the vertical canals, douching the right ear with cold water causes a rotary eye jerking to the left and a sensation of falling to the left, although actually falling to the right; and 'past-pointing' to the right. Hot water causes exactly the opposite reaction.

"The sympathetic nerve chain and the sympathetic ganglion are in very close proximity to the transverse process of the second and third cervical vertebrae, so close that the slightest rotation will create a direct pull on the sympathetic chain. It is by means of this disturbance that we find vasomotor changes in the medulla and ear-mechanism creating vertigo directly. It is also true that any vertebral maladjustments may produce vertigo, but the vertigo is always reflex passing from structure or organ to the sympathetic chain, then to the medulla and ear-mechanism."

BUREAU OF MARKETS
CO-OPERATES WITH STATE
Plans for Co-Operative Work With States Are Outlined By Ill.
- reau of Markets.

The Bureau of Markets and Crop Estimates of the United States Department of Agriculture maintains a separate division in its organization to handle its cooperation with the various states. With the consolidation of the administration of the Office of Farm Management under the chief of this bureau, it is planned to strengthen the cooperative relations with the state institutions. It is desired that the work undertaken by the state and federal workers will be based on definite projects as has been done for the past two years in the Office of Farm Management.

Research work in farm management, cost of production and cost of marketing, marketing methods and practices, etc., will be undertaken cooperatively with the state colleges and experiment stations whenever satisfactory arrangements can be made to work together. Based on information gained from these investigations the educational work will be carried on in cooperation with the extension service of the state colleges. The service work, which covers in a broad way the market news and the inspection work of the bureau, will usually be with the State Departments of Agriculture and the State Bureaus of Markets, conforming in this regard to the division of labor agreed upon in the state.

"CLEAN POLITICS."

It is the duty of every good citizen to discourage in every way possible bribery in elections. Not only should they demand or condone that they desist from this great crime, but they should seek to create a sentiment against it so strong that men would not think of accepting an offer from any source.

Let the crime be denounced on every hand. It should be discussed in the presence of those who have been guilty of violating the law until they realize the infamy of the act. Let the subject never be mentioned without denouncing the sin. It is too often spoken of in jest. If we are to stamp out the evil we must be serious about it.

Good citizens should openly avow their determination to support no man who will bribe a voter. Many of the men who barter away their votes do not think it any serious wrong. They have but little conscience in the matter. They must be taught that they are discredited and have no standing in society; that by doing this they degrade themselves and their families. Men can sometimes be moved by appealing to their pride when you cannot reach them through their moral nature. A really good citizen is always doing what he can to make other people good citizens. The men and women of the county who consider themselves the backbone of society can do a vast deal toward changing sentiment on any subject.

The fight is on for "Clean Politics," and every one should take a part. The victory is easy if the good people can be enlisted. Men should feel insulted at any intimation of bribery, and should resent it promptly and strongly.

A poor man told me that when he removed to a new community he was approached by a man of his own party who had been in Congress, and he gave him such a stinging rebuke that in the ten years he had lived in that community no one had ever dared to insult bribe to him again.

Teach the ignorant an vicious the enormity of the crime, denounce it in unmeasured terms, and it will soon pass away. Sentiment will enforce law.

J. J. DICKEY.

If the Burmese husband and wife come to the conclusion that they are not suited to each other their procedure of divorce is simple and direct. The wife does not go to her lawyer, but to the tailor-chandler. From him she obtains two little candles. These she brings home, and she and her husband sit down on the floor, placing the candles between them. One candle represents the husband, one the wife. They are lighted at the same moment, and the owner of the one which goes out first leaves the house, taking only his or her clothes, while the owner of the more enduring candle remains also the owner of the house and all that it contains.

SUNDAY

New York Letter

by Lucy Jeanne Price

New York. — America always likes to have her titled ex-daughters come home and visit, and give her a chance to see how they carry it off. So there is a decided filip given to the interest. New York is feeling a little approaching visit of Lord Beatty, first lord of the British Admiralty and Lady Beatty; for she is a daughter of the late Marshall Field, of Chicago. While in New York, Lord and Lady Beatty will be guests of Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Lambert Field-Treese. —NY—

Nell Martin used to be a regular newspaper man out in Cleveland and Columbus, Ohio. But through a press agent's job, he got to being an actor; with Stuart Walker's company. Last year, to his own surprise, he was offered a two-year's contract by A. H. Woods. "A two year contract!" gasped Nell to himself, when he was safely alone. "Now why on earth, would anybody want to work for them for two years?" Not having entirely got over being a newspaperman, he desidered that the way to find out was to ask. So he went to Woods' agent. "It isn't that I'm not appreciative or that I'm unduly modest," he said, "but, say, as man to man, will you tell me just what got that two-year clause in my contract? Have you some special part in mind for me next season—or what?" The agent took his cigar from his mouth and replied "I'll tell you why, Martin. It's because you're the only juvenile in the business that looks as though he still thought babies grew on trees." And yet they say that repartee is sophisticated work! —NY—

No matter whether you ever take a vacation or not, you just can't help thinking about one along about this time every summer, I know perfectly well that I am going to sit around on Manhattan Island, writing letters about it and trying to decide whether it really does make you warmer to drink cold things, and maybe go as far as Brighton once a week? And still—wives have taken to watering the lawn is disconnected from midnight on. —NY—

Getting accustomed to short skirts is probably what did it. But anyway, it is comfortable and efficient and seems pretty sensible. In half a dozen suburbs of New York, the fair houses are in their bathing suits! "I started using it to do the work around the house" exclaimed one trim young matron. "And it certainly was comfortable; oh, just wonderful to work in. Then I got the lawn watering idea. At first the neighbors started but not for long; and now nearly every woman in the block is doing it. When we're through, we just turn the hose on ourselves and it's nearly as good as going for a swim!" The custom has spread rapidly in all directions—Long Island, New Jersey and Westchester county. LUCY JEANNE PRICE.

UNCLE TED'S BED-TIME STORIES.

Wasting and Saving—The Old Way And the New.

"What of it? I don't suppose some people do like to be told about how their money was wasted before, during and after the war, but this is a FACT!" Jack was engaged in his usual pastime of lecturing to come of his chums who don't always agree with him.

"And what is the discussion all about now?" asked Uncle Ted who had been weeding the garden and had found a shady spot where he could join the children and rest for a while.

"I read something about how President Harding and everybody else has just discovered the terrible waste of money in the Shipping Board, and how hard the new chairman, Mr. Lasker, is working to make a real American merchant marine out of an awful mess."

"Jack, you seem to be reading the papers like a real American boy should. I'm proud to see you taking an interest in the affairs of your country. Since you have mentioned the Shipping Board, I'm going to tell you a little story about that."

"When Warren G. Harding first announced that he would be proud to serve his country and his fellowmen as Chief Executive of this great nation, one of the first things that he mentioned first was the great necessity for American ships carrying American goods on the high seas everywhere. He knew and we knew that we had a Shipping Board, created for the war, which Board must continue to handle the hundreds of ships which were built by the Board's authority.

"President Harding didn't pick the first man who came along to take charge of this important work. He looked around for a man who not necessarily knew anything about ships, but a man with a big business head—man who had made good, who saw things in a big way and who was not afraid to work. He found that man in Chicago and his name is Albert D. Lasker, now chairman of the U. S. Shipping Board.

"Mr. Lasker didn't waste any time getting started, either. Before the country realized that he was at work, he had called on the President to show him a statement of figures to prove gross inefficiency, carelessness and incompetency had been used in the running of the Shipping Board before he became chairman. Mr. Lasker said the President was 'shocked and dismayed' and I should think he would be when you learn that the Shipping Board used $300,000,000 of the treasury money last year. That is some money, at best, but that isn't all! About $200,000,000 of that amount, was an absolute loss. Mr. Lasker also pointed out that the books of the Board were in a deplorable condition, so bad that he doubts if they really can ever be made straight.

"Kiddies, it is a crime the way money was wasted and the people deceived. Listen to what Mr. Lasker said to the newspaper men after he talked with the president:

"I want to say it is inconceivable than an institution like this could be in existence and he turned over to men to administer in the shape it is. Had the books been kept with the view to cheating and deceiving Congress and the country, they could not have been kept in much different shape than they have been and I measure the words I am using. It has almost wormed out physically and mentally to get anything from the books that could be regarded as complete."

"It makes me sore to think of things in that shape when the best help in the world was obtainable and money no object," said Jack.

"I guess it'll be cleaned up pretty soon if Mr. Lasker and President Harding have anything to say," commented Ruth.

"Yes, you bet. Now that I've told you about waste, listen to something about saving. When President Harding made Gen. Dawes Director of the Budget, some people said he talked a lot and made a lot of noise but never did anything. He has done so much already that he has saved the government $112,612,828 by cutting it from the $6,000,000,000 estimated appropriations for government expenses for the current fiscal year. Another thing that has been stopped is what is known as deficiency appropriations. When the heads of bureaus and departments saw they were running out of money in a given year they didn't worry or try to cut down and make the money last. They spent all that had been appropriated and asked for more, known as deficiency appropriations, and life went merrily on as did the people's money.

"But that is to stop. Instead of asking for more, they know that they must keep within the amount given, and make every effort to do the job with less if possible. The difference all through the government is just like the difference in the Shipping Board last year and now. It is the difference between waste, carelessness and 'don't care,' and saving, carefulness and a spirit of do the job with less but do it WELL."

FAT CATTLE SHOW AND SALE PLANNED FOR STATE FAIR

Large Premiums Are Offered for Fat Cattle Show To Be Held at Kentucky State Fair.

Louisville, Ky. — Definite arrangements for the Fat Cattle Show and Sale to be held at the Kentucky State Fair have been announced by W. S. Bell, president of the Louisville Livestock Exchange in a communication issued to the farmers and breeders of the state.

The Fat Cattle Show and Sale will be held at the fairgrounds September 15 and 16. The premiums offered will total $5,920, making this one of the most important shows and sales of its class to be conducted in the country this year.

While the show will be conducted as a part of the State Fair the handling of it will be managed by the Livestock Exchange and the Bourbon Stock Yards. Selection of the judges will be made by the Exchange from among the best known cattle buyers connected with the prominent packers the latter having given their full endorsement to the show are expected to be liberal buyers.

Consignments of the cattle will be made to the regular commission agent of the breeders and the farmers who will care for them from the time of their arrival in Louisville until their disposal.

Under the arrangement of the State Fair Board the original plan of the Livestock Exchange and the Bourbon Stock Yards to hold a Fat and Feeding Cattle Show and Sale at the same time was abandoned. The project was split into two parts. The Fat Cattle Show and Sale was turned over to the State Fair and the Exchange and the Stockyards will hold a Feeding Cattle Show and Sale sometime in October, the date to be announced later.

This feeding cattle show is expected to be one of the most important events of the year. It will be held at the Bourbon Stock Yards and already the number of entries pledged is very large. The prizes for this show will be proportionately large and will be given out later.

Prior to the holding of the Fat Cattle Show and the Feeding Cattle event the Exchange and the Stockyards are concerned with the Second Farmer's Better Sire Sale which will be held at the Bourbon Stock Yards, August 11. On this occasion 200 purebred bucks and ewes and 2,000 high grade ewes will be sold at auction. As at the previous sale of pure bred bulls the farmers will make their own prices for the animals offered. All animals will be guaranteed.

Significance of this sale is indicated in reports of the sheep market this year, in which quality spring lambs have brought good prices consistently while scrubs have gone begging, and certainly at a loss to the breeder. The season's range on these lambs has shown a gap of price between tops and seconds from five to seven cents a pound or more than $3 per lamb.

Attention is called by the Stockyards to the maintenance of a traffic and transportation department to protect the interests of the shippers; the auditing of freight bills to prevent overcharge; car supply watched to avoid shortage; facilities at loading points investigated and improvements in the new uniform. See their red coats and their smiling faces and hear their pretty music. At the price of admission, 25c, the big tent should be filled.

This will be their first appearance in their new uniform. See their red coats and their smiling faces and hear their pretty music. At the price of admission, 25c, the big tent should be filled.

Through well-planned system of education for thrift in the public schools in St. Louis, Mo., a net profit of $17,308 was realized from the sale of 358 tons of old paper last year. The proceeds of this work is credited to the Teachers' Benevolent Association, an organization of teachers formed for the purpose of aiding those who retire after long service, and of relieving members, temporarily in need.

BIG CROWDS ON SUNDAY

The Board of Directors is very well satisfied with the progress of the meetings. The attendance today was very encouraging. Chief interest this week will center on the meeting of the association on Wednesday at which time the work of the directors will be reviewed and many other matters of interest looking to the future progress of the campmeeting will be considered.

Mr. and Mrs. Mike Brown, Mrs. Chas. Hooper, Miss Grace Bierbower and Miss Mary Crowe came out this afternoon and remained until after the evening service.

Rev. John Mullin of the Maysville Christian church and Rev. Eklar of the Mt. Carmel M. E. church, South were welcome visitors at the camp today.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Pfonder, of Cleveland, Ohio, attended campmeeting today in camp with Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Traxel.

The younger set is surely having a great time this year. It is one of the most congenial, sociable and agreeable bunches we have ever had. Any young lady or gentleman attending who does not have a good time must be something wrong with them.

The evangelist preached about those who "snore in church" on a recent evening. What's bothering some of us about the Kentucky Inn is a "saw mill" that is working over time about every night. Whoever it is expert at the business and could snore a whole pane without missing a note. Must be this splendid place to sleep that brings about such healthy snoring. Then we hear of a pretty noisy "saw mill" down in Tabernacle Square. But don't mention it.

RIPLEY FAIR OPENS ON TUESDAY.

The big Ripley Fair will begin Tuesday and great preparations have been made for a big meeting there this year. Many horses and much stock has passed through Maysville today enroute to the Brown county town. It is expected that quite a number of Maysville and Mason county people will attend this fair.

COURT AND GOVERNMENT MAY BE ONE-WAY STREETS.
It is understood that an effort will be made before City Council at its meeting Monday evening to have Court and Government streets made one-way streets by ordinance. The number of accidents and near-accidents at the intersection of these streets and the main cross streets have made city officials consider this stop.

NEW BOILERS TO BE INSTALLED ON LAURANCE.
The Aberdeen-Maysville ferry boat Laurance left Sunday morning for Gallipolis, Ohio, where she will be for several weeks having a complete new set of boilers installed and other extensive improvements made. When the Laurance returns she will be practically a new boat. During her absence the steam ferry City of Huntington is taking care of this trade.

SEVERAL GO TO HEAR HON. W. J. BRYAN.
Quite a number of Maysville people motored to West Union Monday to attend the Adams county Chautauqua and hear Hon. William Jennings Bryan, who speaks there this afternoon. Mr. Bryan is the strongest drawing card of the Adams county Chautauqua and it is expected that he will attract hundreds to the Adams county capital.

FILE SUIT TO STOP ERECTION OF BUILDING.

Herman Schwartz, Emma Schwartz, Margaret Eltel and Jane Eltel filed suit in the Mason Circuit Court Monday morning against Ed. L. Richezon, Sue Richezon and Mary Richezon, asking a temporary restraining order restraining the defendants from proceeding with the erection of a building in West Third street. The plaintiffs set out that they signed and City Council granted permit permitting the defendants to erect adjoining their property a one-story garage. They claim that instead of a one-story building, the defendants are erecting a two story building which they claim will be damaging to their property. The temporary injunction is granted pending a hearing on a permanent injunction.

HORSESHOE BAND'S VACATION SEASON AT AN END.

Fear That Charles Harmon Fractured His Skull in Ellsberry Near-Frigid—Wife Is Improving.

Reports Sunday from the Georgetown, Ohio, jail where Rev. Charles Harmon is confined on a charge of attempting to take his wife's life, are to the effect that young Harmon is in much more critical condition than was at first thought. Physicians now fear that he has suffered a fracture of the skull and X-ray examinations are being made.

Mrs. Harmon is improving very satisfactorily and was removed from the home of relatives to her own home on Saturday. None of her wounds are considered serious and she is expected to recover in a very short time.

Harmon's condition which, at first, was not thought serious, is now said to be quite critical and it may be that he will not recover. He is reported to be a complete nervous wreck and begs to die.
